A Kelowna-based not-for-profit organization will be able to bring the joy of outdoor recreation to more people across the Okanagan Valley thanks to a $10,000 cheque from Regency Retirement Resorts, managed by Cogir Real Estate.

The Community Recreational Initiatives Society (CRIS) breaks down barriers for people with cognitive, physical and sensory disabilities to be active outside.

On Feb. 8, the Retirement Resort presented CRIS with the $10,000 cheque.

Danielle Stalenhoef of CRIS Kelowna said that thanks to the donation, her team has been able to purchase trailers that are used
